

2024 APS March Meeting in Hong Kong

The Physical Society of Hong Kong and the American Physical Society have agreed to hold a satellite conference in Hong Kong during the APS March Meeting from March 3 to 9, 2024. Some academic presentations made at the Hong Kong venue can be simultaneously broadcasted to the online platform of the APS March Meeting, and attendees can also view presentations from the APS online platform. We believe that under the circumstances where some researchers are unable to attend the meeting in the United States due to visa issues, our conference will provide a valuable platform for them to showcase their research achievements and engage in academic exchanges with international collaborators.

The conference details are as follows:

1. Conference Themes:
  - Atomic, Molecular, and Optical Physics
  - Condensed Matter Theory and Computational Physics
  - Quantum Physics
  - Biophysics and Soft Matter
